DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-12 are pending in this application and subject to restriction.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-12, drawn to a method of administering a therapeutically effective amount of a protein substance comprising all or part of a disintegrin domain of an adamalysin, classified in class 514, subclass 2.
- II. Claims 1-12, drawn to a method of administering a therapeutically effective amount of a nucleic acid comprising the polynucleotide sequence coding for all or part of a disintegrin domain of an adamalysin, classified in class 514, subclass 44.

The inventions are distinct each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). The instant specification does not disclose that these methods would be used together. The method of administering a therapeutically effective amount of a nucleic acid comprising the polynucleotide sequence coding for all or part of a disintegrin domain of an adamalysin and a method of administering a therapeutically effective amount of a protein comprising the polynucleotide sequence coding for all or part of a disintegrin domain of an adamalysin are all unrelated as they comprise distinct steps and utilize different products, which demonstrates that each method has a different mode of operation. Each invention performs this function using a structurally and functionally divergent material. For example, the nucleic acid requires knowledge of the coding sequences for isolation and the steps of administration requires cloning of the nucleic acid in expression vector, which steps are not required of Group I. Furthermore, methods of administration of nucleic acids and proteins are distinct in that means of administering either requires distinct formulations and means of preparation. Therefore, each method is divergent in materials and steps. For these reasons the Inventions I and II are patentably distinct.

Furthermore, the distinct steps and products require separate and distinct searches. The inventions of Groups I and II have a separate status in the art as shown by their different classifications. As such, it would be burdensome to search the inventions of Groups I and II together.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
